From the Director

Dear Friends,

Several days ago by email I received these verses written by Paul to the Colossians:

Walk in wisdom toward outsiders, making the best use of the time. Let your speech always be gracious, seasoned with salt, so that you may know how you ought to answer each person. Colossians 4:5-6 (ESV)

This was intriguing to me, because the day before I'd had an opportunity to be gracious to an outsider who was misusing the parking lot at the GRN USA office in Temecula, and while I was 'in the right,' I was still wrong because I had failed to be gracious.

Furthering my discomfort over how I had presented myself, I'd recently seen and shared this quote from the theologian J.C. Ryle:

Resolve that, by the grace of God, you will make Christianity beautiful in the eyes of the world.

I even posted that on my Facebook page. Ugh.

Now, to be fair to myself, the younger man in the group—there were three people involved—seemed to have a chip on his shoulder and likely viewed anyone who told him that his actions were wrong, as being just as wrong. But I knew in my spirit immediately afterward that I could have approached them differently, and who knows, maybe they could have left with a convicted heart rather than a complaining one.

I share this to ask that you, our partners in ministry, lift each member of GRN in prayer to our Father, and yes, that he protect us in dangerous situations, but more importantly that we graciously represent him in everything.

Peace of Christ,

Dale Rickards
